Main Street Cleveland

A Banner Sponsorship Program

Case Study

Cleveland is a beautiful town in the heart of the Ocoee Region of Tennessee. With a rich history but forward-thinking mind-set, Cleveland wanted to improve itself as a draw for business and residential settlement while maintaining the town's charming character.

Cleveland's Main Street Executive Director had heard about a method developed by Project Graphics to fund light-pole banner programs through sponsorships from local merchants. Merchants could add their business name via an additional "slice" of fabric attached below the main banner, thus generating greater awareness of their business from passers-by, building local support for the banner program and creating a revenue stream to make the program self-sufficient.

Today, Cleveland has annual sponsorship revenues of over $10,000 from the light-pole banner program. The town refreshes the downtown look with three separate banner designs that are changed out seasonally and slices that help promote downtown revitalization as well as sponsorships.

Sharon Marr, Cleveland's Executive Director, has a number of plans for the future. "The banner program is so popular that available openings go quickly. With such an easy way to manage cash influx we can not only keep up our existing events, but we've also been able to help pay for a number of downtown improvements around our plaza. At first, we just wanted to tie together our downtown with an attractive graphic campaign that fit into our historic identity. It's ended up being so much more than that."

Banner Sponsorship Programs

Add attractive visuals. Add community spirit.
Add revenue.

As a long-time member of the National Historic Trust, we are aware of the challenges faced by historic towns as they try to balance commerce and economic development with infrastructure renewal and preservation of the town's character and historic charm. That's why we developed an idea that would benefit everyone – the Banner Sponsorship Program.

For over fifteen years, the Banner Sponsorship Program has allowed towns across America to install light pole banners in their downtowns without outside funding. In fact, these programs generate revenue. The basic idea is that businesses, patrons, associations and community organizations pay an annual fee to underwrite a banner and their name is then added in a "slice" of matching fabric below your town's banner. They get great local exposure and the town gets a light pole banner program. The sponsorship covers the initial installation and produces even more excess revenue in following years, usually over $10,000 per year!

If your community is currently undergoing downtown revitalization, utilizing the Historic Trust's Four Point Approach or simply seeking to fund-raise and implement a new banner display, a sponsorship program could provide the necessary funding to jump-start your project. Please contact us to discuss how we can help or to order a copy of the full program guide.
